The programme is shaping up!

The ESCAIDE Scientific Committee has been busy planning the plenary sessions for this year's event. A key theme at the conference will be COVID-19, with two plenaries that will focus on the epidemiology, societal impact and effectiveness of measures taken with respect to the pandemic. The future of the field epidemiology training programmes will also be debated, as well as the potential of behaviour change and technology to tackle AMR. Stay tuned for more details on the programme, invited speakers and ESCAIDE side events.
