

ESCAIDE 2023 updates

Newsletter August 2023

In-person registrations now closed

As the conference approaches, we've been thrilled by the remarkable response we've received – a huge thank you to all those who have already registered! However, this means we have had to close the registrations to attend in-person earlier than expected. It is still possible for certain groups, including abstract presenters and side-events speakers, to register using a registration code, which will be sent to them directly.

For those who missed the in-person registrations, our online registration remains open until the conference days. As a fully hybrid event, the ESCAIDE online platform offers you access to the conference's exciting sessions, engaging speakers, and virtual networking opportunities. We hope you will join us and make the most of the online ESCAIDE experience!

Call for late breaker abstracts opens soon

The call for late breaker abstracts will be open from 7 September until 18 September 2023. This is your chance to submit an abstract reporting on acute urgent public health problems or containing novel findings that weren't available in time for the general call for abstracts for ESCAIDE. These abstracts will be reviewed by members of the Scientific Committee, and the results of the selection process will be communicated to authors by 11 October.

Discover the plenary sessions and speakers

We're pleased to announce not only the topics of our 5 plenary sessions, but also the distinguished speakers who will be discussing them. From AI and digital transformation, to wastewater surveillance, to the post-pandemic public health workforce (and more!), you can find the full list of plenaries and speakers on our website. We've endeavored to bring together a diverse and engaging group of panelists who are excited to share their experience and expertise with ESCAIDE participants. As in previous years, the plenary sessions will be expertly moderated by members of the ESCAIDE Scientific Committee.

Find out more about our side events

Our website is regularly updated with the latest information about the ESCAIDE programme. You can now find information regarding the side events that will take place over the 3 days of the conference, and we will be adding more details soon about the speakers and moderators. We're delighted to bring back some of the favourite side events from previous editions of the conference, like the Career Compass and Social Sciences Session, as well as new and exciting sessions on preparedness and risk communication. There is almost too much to choose from!
